1 Welcome to the Course

1.1 Message from the Dean of School

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the School of Events, Tourism and Hospitality Management.

Our School's mission is to inspire and educate the events, tourism and hospitality leaders of tomorrow so that they can make a positive difference in the world. This guides what we do: from what we teach to how we teach; from the topics we think we should research; to how we share the results of our endeavours. In trying to live up to our aspiration, we encourage critical thinking and a spirit of questioning among students and staff, and promote stakeholder engagement with those who share our ambitions to improve the world through events, tourism and hospitality education and research.

We claim a degree of success in achieving our ambitions. In December last year, a former postgraduate student won a competition organised by an influential trade body, which required him to demonstrate an advanced knowledge of cutting-edge event management practices. In January this year, one of our responsible tourism management alumna won the prestigious Women in Tourism award based on the success of her social enterprise. In March, we were told that four of our former students were named in the trade press as being among a list of 35 outstanding events professionals under the age of 35. This is remarkable given the tens of thousands of people working in this sector. 5 of our former students were listed in a similar exercise in 2018. To these we could add others, including the achievements of our current students, several of whom have already gained national recognition via professional association and subject association prizes.

My colleagues and I look forward to helping you gain the skills and knowledge associated with developing a career in your chosen field. You are joining an award-winning School; one that has been deemed a Centre of Excellence by two national industry bodies.

Our intention is to provide you with a top-class education that will enable you to join the labour market and prosper or to go on to further study at the highest levels. Even though you are not studying on campus, I am also hoping that you will become a proud member of our alumni network. That way, we will continue to collaborate long after you started your education with us.

In the meantime, enjoy your studies!

Professor Rhodri Thomas

Dean

School of Events, Tourism and Hospitality Management

1.2 Message from your Course Leader

Hello Students,

Welcome to your online Masters course!

The MSc Travel Business Leadership online course was developed with major input from the travel industry, and we continue to work with some of the leading, and some less well-known travel companies to make this course relevant, current and enjoyable for you, whilst adding to and building upon your existing management skills and knowledge base to help to further your career opportunities in our rapidly changing sector. The underlying ethos of the Postgraduate degree in Travel Business Leadership is to be an award that is relevant, challenging, engaging, contemporary and flexible. This reflects the spirit of students attracted to the course.

This Course Handbook provides information for you about your online, part-time course. Please also use with your Welcome Pack and more detailed online resources to navigate to various sections within the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). All key areas are labelled within My Beckett, which is your online hub to access course materials, resources and assessment briefings. (More details about this in the section about Keeping in Touch).

The Course Resources module - The first week of your course is spent with pre study tasks such as familiarising yourself with University/Course Resources. The purpose of this module is to provide you with some information about Leeds Beckett and your course. If you are new to the course, or if you are a returning student, this module is designed to provide you with a valuable source for information at the start and throughout your studies.

You should engage with all the content provided throughout your modules as well as the Google+ Communities and Discussion boards. A lot of this information will be new to you and you need to settle in to the online system and know where to find things. We are happy to arrange an online chat, for example, via Google Hangouts, or via Skype in order to help you with your preparation and answer any questions that you might have. Please do get in touch if you have any questions - you will find our contact details in the 'Contacts/Support' section.

The course team is looking forward to working with you on your learning journey and we hope that your time studying with us at Leeds Beckett University is both enjoyable and successful.

1.6 Working in Partnership

We are committed to working in partnership with you and the Students' Union to provide you with an inclusive, safe and engaging learning environment which is conducive to study for all our students and our staff. An important element of your time studying with us is your engagement in developing your learning. Your engagement and attendance on your course enables you to further your learning and supports your achievement, course completion and aspirations for the future. There is an expectation that students will attend, engage in their learning and submit for assessment. We provide support for you to maximise your time studying with us and to develop your learning, skills and abilities to support you in your chosen career path.

We seek active participation by all our students in the continuous enhancement of our courses and through our monitoring, annual review and enhancement processes. These are formal processes used by our University for assuring the academic standards and quality of your course and its continuous improvement. These processes utilise your feedback, External Examiners' reports, feedback from staff and others, data relating to student outcomes on the course and student surveys to reflect on areas of good practice and areas for further enhancement. We invite all students to participate in a range of opportunities to provide us with feedback on your course and modules. This may include discussions with staff, focus groups, and meetings (e.g. with Course Representatives or with staff) and formalised student surveys e.g. mid module reviews, end of module evaluations and specific course or other surveys such as the Student Barometer and Destination of Leavers in Higher Education Survey. We utilise the outcomes of these surveys to benchmark our courses nationally and to inform annual course enhancements.

Informal feedback is also welcome at any time either via your Academic Advisor or module tutor or via your Course Representative. Our partnership with you enables us together to make the most of your learning experience with us and to enhance the quality and reputation of your course. You can find out what actions have been taken in response to your feedback through your Course Representative, the Students' Union, your tutors or through the Library.

1.7 Course Representatives

You have the opportunity of becoming an elected Course Representative working in a voluntary capacity with students, the Students' Union, the Course Director and members of the course team and our University. The Course Director, working in partnership with our Students' Union, enables the process for election and appointment of Course Representatives. The Students' Union provides training and development for Course Reps and supports their engagement in enhancement activities. Being a Course Representative provides an opportunity for you to enhance your own learning and the development of relevant professional and employability skills in parallel with your studies.

As a Course Representative you would play an important role in:

- acting as a point of contact and advocate for students on your course and in supporting their active engagement;
- gathering feedback from students on your course to inform further enhancements to the quality of your course and the student experience;
- enabling dialogue and good communication between students and staff on the course;

- working with the Course Director, members of the course team and the Students' Union to enhance your course;
- facilitating and engaging in meetings about your course; and
- being an ambassador for your course.

Further details about Course Representatives are available on the Students' Union web site, on the Students web site and in our University's Academic Regulations.

We have listened to feedback which students have given about their experiences of learning on this course, following your feedback we have now enhanced the course by revisiting some teaching activity instructions, to help you to manage your time more effectively, reduced the amount of academic articles we expect you to complete, as well as providing additional skype opportunities for students to engage in skype support meetings with staff.

2 Studying on this Course

This course has been designed to meet the needs of the global travel industry for a Masters degree to develop the strategic management and leadership competences of middle and senior travel executives. By studying on this course, you will be equipped with advanced skills and knowledge to effectively work in senior, strategic management positions of leadership in one of the fastest growing industries, major generators of international trade, and one of the main generators of wealth for developing countries. From the very first module you will be able to apply the course material to your work context, this will impact on delivering results in real travel business scenarios.

The aim of the course is to develop individuals' knowledge and expertise in the field of travel business leadership. An important aspect that differentiates the course from the certificate and diploma is the study of the Masters Research Project. This sustained piece of individual work allows the student to study, explore and critically investigate something in depth that is of interest to them and of benefit to their future career development.

Within the next decade, forecasters predict growth in travel and tourism sectors, such as hotels, travel agents, airlines and other passenger transportation. The travel trade is key to increasing visits from a number of markets and will play a pivotal role in future progress and development. However, we also recognise that 'overtourism' and sustainable development goals must strongly influence future strategies, decisions and practices, This course will enable you to become an advocate for positive change, we support the United Nations 17 sustainable development goals.

This is a postgraduate programme for home and/or international students, who are building on, or converting, their undergraduate and/or professional experience and have a desire to study international travel leadership at masters level. Target markets for this course are varied and include:

- Students who have extensive managerial experience in the travel industry and who wish to obtain a formal post-graduate qualification;
- Students who have a tourism/travel degree or equivalent, who wish to study travel at a higher level;
- Students from a non- travel degree background who wish to pursue a career in travel leadership and who require or wish to have a travel post-graduate qualification;
- Students who are working in the travel industry and who wish to study this award on a part-time basis.

This programme is designed to enhance the ability of students to lead effectively at operational and strategic levels within public and private sectors of the travel industries.

The award is delivered through online distance learning supported by a range of teaching activities using digital tools via the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). This approach gives the flexibility to accommodate different learning needs and as a consequence widens participation to this programme. This course is offered online as a part-time study mode only.

Through a programme of core modules, together with the practical application of acquired skills and knowledge to assignments and a professional research project, students are able to focus their learning in an appropriate way to facilitate their future career development. In addition to subject knowledge and understanding, students will also be developing transferable personal skills, academic skills and employability skills appropriate for middle and high-level management careers in travel leadership. Through the major Masters Research Project, students will be able to focus their learning in an appropriate way to facilitate their future career development.

2.5 Work-Related Activities and Employability

The Course Specification outlines what work-related activities are associated with this course.

It is anticipated that most students will be employed at management level within the global travel industry, whilst studying part-time, working towards high standards of professionalism with both their career and qualification goals. Continuing professional development is essential within the travel and tourism industry if managers are determined to progress their careers and stay ahead of the competition across the range of diverse and dynamic travel and tourism sectors which are expanding and diversifying. Enlightened individuals are seeking the knowledge they need to be effective leaders in these fields.

The industry offers careers in a multitude of areas in almost every country in the world. Students can pursue careers in multinational corporations, which may include travel agency groups, tour operators, cruise ships and airlines. Students may also choose careers in small to medium sized enterprises, work in generalist operational areas such as travel management or they may prefer to work in specialist areas such as marketing or human resource management. In all cases, leadership skills will be important to those wishing to further their careers.

Postgraduates will be equipped to develop careers with a diverse range of sectors involved with the broad spectrum of international travel and tourism. Students will acquire and develop knowledge, skills and abilities that will enhance their careers. For those students who are already in employment, knowledge and skills will be developed that will enable them to make a positive impact in their organisations. Preparing students for career progression is a central feature of the course.

Those students already employed in travel careers will benefit from the networking opportunities of studying with other similar students and the variety of perspectives of students in different travel careers. The management aspects of the course along with the clear travel perspective should benefit the students' development. It is for this reason that students may prefer this course over MBA alternatives.

Million Plus (2010), suggests that 'the individual benefits accrued from a post - graduate award are primarily an improvement in employability either through professional development or the acquisition of advanced 'softer skills' which can be employed effectively alongside the postgraduate's knowledge base'

Career opportunities, therefore, will be available with:

- private sector employers (tour operators, transport operators, travel distribution intermediaries etc.)
- organisations involved with the development and promotion of travel for example, government agencies, national tourist and hospitality organisations, international tourism and hospitality bodies and associations
- non-governmental organisations supporting travel initiatives locally and globally.

Opportunities will also arise with non-governmental organisations supporting travel initiatives locally and globally. It is expected that postgraduates will be able to progress to middle and senior management positions. Postgraduates of this programme will also be well equipped to pursue a higher degree through research – MPhil or PhD, enabling them either to develop a career within academia or use their specialist subject expertise to seek a senior position with a public or private sector travel employer.

The Tourism group at Leeds Beckett University is particularly proud of its links with the Institute of Travel and Tourism (ITT) who recognise us as a Centre of Excellence for tourism teaching and research. Our strong links with ITT and with other industry bodies including the UNWTO, ABTA and The Travel Foundation mean we are often able to secure good employment opportunities for our graduates.

2.6 Opportunities for Graduates

The Course Specification includes details of any accreditations, career paths, further study options and other opportunities for graduates.

Without any form of extenuating circumstances, standard penalties apply for late submission of assessed work. Full details of the penalties for late submission of course work are available in section 3.11 of the Academic Regulations at www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/public-information/academic-regulations.

If you have been recommended 'flexibility around deadlines' as a reasonable adjustment in your Reasonable Adjustment Plan, your Course Administrator will be able to advise you of the process.

3.2 Getting Feedback on your Assessed Work

Assessed work will normally be returned with appropriate feedback within four weeks of your submission. Each Module Handbook will provide you with specific guidelines on how and when you will receive this. The Course Specification explains how feedback will be provided on both formative and summative assessments.

Insights into what happens whilst you are waiting for your grade: When you submit your assessment, the module leader is responsible for collating all of the administrative details about that piece of work, such as reading and tracking the Turnitin submissions before marking and logging all of these details. (Tutors can often receive submissions for a few modules at the same time). Once this has been completed, the marking process begins. With online marking, we create an online rubric/ marking criteria for every assessment within Turnitin which the marker applies to every piece of work being marked to ensure consistency. Firstly, a process known as standardisation occurs, this is when the examiners, or academic tutors are 'standardised' to ensure that they all apply all of the marking scheme aspects consistently and fairly by completing a sample of marking which is moderated with other tutors to assure quality. Assessments are discussed in depth with guidance and feedback to ensure examiners have applied the mark scheme appropriately, fairly and consistently. Following this first stage of the quality process, we then continue to follow and apply the marking scheme to the rest of the submissions. Once completed, these are organised into 'grade boundaries' and the work is checked, or moderated by the second marker. Once feedback has been completed and all of the marks are finalised, the marks are released to students, using a 'post date' function, after this date, students are able to log into Turnitin to view their work, read feedback from the tutor, and see the all-important grade mark. This is why we need 4 weeks (or less, sometimes) to 'turnaround', or process your work. This process hopefully assures you of the high standards of professionalism which the course team employs.

Formative Feedback

Feedback methods for formative assessment, which means that this work is not formally assessed, as summative assessments are, these include:

- Online audio or written via VLE.
- Generic feedback via email/VLE.
- During each topic within the module, there is a combination of short self-tests and tutor feedback on topic activities/discussions.
- It is the intention to develop a community spirit so that students can both support each other and network.
- Peer feedback through online or other online spaces, particularly where presentations have been undertaken.

- Immediate email feedback where appropriate.
- Feedback will be provided in time for the assessment to enable students to have time to build upon feedback ready for summative testing.

Summative Feedback

Feedback methods for summative assessment include all of the above plus:

- Summative feedback on student assessments is predominantly delivered by comments on individual pieces of work and within four weeks after the assignment submission deadline, in accordance with University guidelines.
- The module leader will post general feedback on common issues encountered within the assessment as soon as a number of the assessments have been marked.
- Tutors normally make themselves available for one-to-one sessions with all students, also ensuring that those students who appear to be struggling are picked up at an early stage to benefit from additional remedial support.

These sessions may be initiated either by the module tutor or the student, and may take the form of Adobe Connect, Skype, or Google Hangout sessions. Often screen sharing, so both parties can view and discuss the work at the same time.

3.3 How do I Get my Results?

Provisional results in most cases will be made available through MyBeckett. These results are not final and are subject to change following scrutiny by the External Examiner.

Results from module assessments and decisions on awards are available on the Results Online system from: www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/results-online.htm.

Results will only appear within Results Online five working days after the date of the Progression and Award Board meeting (the meeting where your end of level outcome will be decided) or the Module Board meeting (the meeting where modular outcomes are decided).

If you are unsure about when you might receive your results or have queries relating to your results, you should contact your Course Administrator.

3.4 Extenuating Circumstances and Mitigation

If you are experiencing problems which are adversely affecting your ability to study (called 'extenuating circumstances'), then you can apply for mitigation. The University operates a fit to sit/fit to submit approach to extenuating circumstances which means students who take their assessment are declaring themselves fit to do so.

Examples of extenuating circumstances include personal or family illness, bereavement, family problems or being a victim of crime. You will need to provide evidence to prove your situation; the Students' Union Advice Service can offer guidance on what evidence you will need to present.

Further information can be found at www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/mitigation.

You can request a Request for Extension / Mitigation / Authorised Absence Form from your Course Administrator, Tom Greasley (t.greasley@leedsbeckett.ac.uk). Completed forms along with appropriate evidence must be submitted to your Course Administration Team within the timescales given in the guidance. Late submissions will normally be rejected. Outcomes from the mitigation panels, which are held approximately once a month, will be e-mailed to you via your student e-mail account.

If you have been recommended 'flexibility around deadlines' as a reasonable adjustment in your Reasonable Adjustment Plan, your Course Administrator will be able to advise you of the process.

3.5 Re-assessment

If you have not passed a module at the first attempt you will be eligible for re-assessment. See your Assessment page and Module Handbook for details of the relevant re-assessment process (e.g. whether it is coursework, a presentation or other form of assessment/when it will take place/what the deadline is).

Reassessment details can be found in your 'Assessment' section within My Beckett along with the date for resubmission. You will be advised via Results Online of your options for re-assessment. It is your responsibility to make yourself available for reassessment. You are advised to contact your Course Leader, Course Administrator or Academic Advisor for any necessary clarification.

3.6 Student Appeals

If you feel that you have in some way been disadvantaged during your studies and this is reflected in your results, then you may have grounds for an academic appeal.

After your results are available on Results Online you have 15 working days to submit a request for an appeal hearing. You will find the information you need, including grounds for appeal, when and how to appeal and frequently asked questions at:

www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/appeals.htm.

You are strongly advised to seek guidance from the Students' Union Advice Service on whether you have grounds for an appeal and the completion of the paperwork – see section 4 for Students' Union Advice Service contact details.

3.7 Academic Misconduct

Academic integrity is a fundamental principle within the University and is strongly linked to good academic practice. The University has processes to investigate alleged breaches of academic integrity and, where a breach of academic integrity is admitted or found, applies appropriate penalties. <https://www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/academic-integrity/>

Any attempt to gain an unfair advantage, whether intentional or unintentional, is a matter of academic judgement and may be considered to be a breach of academic integrity. Examples of unfair practice include, but are not limited to cheating, plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, ghostwriting and falsification of data. Definitions of these offences and the serious consequences of breaching academic integrity can be found in our Academic Regulations: Section 10 Academic Integrity: www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/public-information/academic-regulations.

There are a range of resources available to help you understand what is and what is not permitted and how to use other people's ideas in your assessed work. These include the Skills for Learning website which can be found at <http://skillsforlearning.leedsbeckett.ac.uk>

If you are unsure on how to reference your work correctly, please seek advice from your tutors or access the Skills for Learning resources online.

4 Where to Get Help

4.1 Academic Advisor

Your Academic Advisor (see Key Contacts in section 1) will be an academic member of staff who teaches you on your course. Your Course Director will make sure that you are given the contact details of your Academic Advisor at the beginning of each year, usually in your course induction. Normally, your named advisor will aim to follow you right through the duration of your course.

Your Academic Advisor has an important role to play in supporting you in academic matters while you are studying on this course. If you are struggling with your work, want to discuss your assessments and ways to improve your marks, your named Academic Advisor is there to support you. Your meetings with the Academic Advisor should be led by you. You might want to talk about career aspirations, your course, your progress and /or your academic results. You may want to set objectives for academic goals. They will also be able to signpost you to Student Services who can advise on a range of matters such as financial worries, accommodation worries or if you are anxious or need counselling. Getting to know your Academic Advisor in the first year of your course is really useful especially when University life and degree level study might be different from what you are used to.

5 What to do if you..

5.1 ...are unable to participate in your studies for a significant period of time

Whilst we understand that as a Distance Learner you will most likely be balancing your study time alongside other commitments such as work and family, you must notify your Course Administrator and Online Learning Tutor if you are unable to participate in your studies for a significant period of time that will affect your study. If you are going to apply for mitigation you will need to provide written evidence of the reason for your absence (see section 3).

5.2 ...are ill during an assessment period

If you are unable to submit a summative assessment due to illness on the day of an examination or assignment deadline and you intend to apply for mitigation, you must also provide us with details and any available evidence as soon as possible. Contact your Course Administrator to get a copy of the appropriate extenuating circumstances form.

Comments and compliments about your course can be raised with your Course Representative or directly with your personal tutor/academic advisor.

If you have a specific complaint about an act or omission of our University, you may be able to make a complaint under the Student Complaints Procedure. In the first instance, you should raise the matter as soon as possible with the member of staff most directly concerned, or with the person who can best resolve it. If this does not resolve the matter, or if the complaint is too serious to be addressed in this way, then you should make a formal complaint in writing. Information about how to make a complaint, including the student complaints procedure and a complaints form, is available online at:

www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/complaints.htm.

5.4 ...are considering suspending studies or withdrawing from the course

If you are considering withdrawal from your course you should speak to your personal tutor/academic advisor, a member of staff at our Student Hub or the Students' Union to discuss your reasons. If there is a problem, University or Students' Union staff may be able to help. It may be possible to arrange suspension of studies from your course.

<http://www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/changing-course/>

Withdrawing from your course permanently or temporarily could impact the availability of future student funding should you decide to return to the course or commence a new course at Leeds Beckett or elsewhere. Please seek advice from the Student Money Team or Students' Union Advice Team.

If you are considering withdrawing, permanently or temporarily, you must complete a withdrawal form, which you can obtain from your Course Administrator. This form must be submitted as soon as possible to your school office as withdrawals cannot normally be backdated. For further details see the Student Regulations at: www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/public-information/student-regulations.

6 Relevant Policies

All student regulations and policies are available at: <http://www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/public-information/student-regulations/>

6.1 Safety, Health and Wellbeing

If you are planning to visit the University in person you will need to make yourself aware of the following policies when you are on Campus.

Policy Statement

Our University is committed to providing a vibrant, ethical and sustainable working environment that values wellbeing and diversity. This commitment exists alongside our wider legal and moral obligations to provide a safe and healthy working environment for our staff, students and members of the public who may be affected by our activities. Further details of our Health and Safety policies are available at: <http://www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/public-information/student-regulations/>

Smoking

No smoking is permitted in any of our University buildings, this includes the use of vapour cigarettes (or other similar devices); if you do smoke outside our buildings please make sure that you stand at least five metres away from building entrances and boundaries.

Use of Laptops within our University

If you need to charge your laptop battery, please make sure that the battery charger/lead are undamaged, and only plug it into a designated power socket – if you are unsure of where these are, please ask a member of staff. Please make sure your battery charger cables do not create a trip hazard.

Fire Safety Procedures

Fire information is present on Fire Action Notices displayed in all our University buildings. These are normally present in corridors. Please read and follow the instructions.

All fire exit routes are clearly identified. You should familiarise yourself with the location of fire exit routes and fire assembly points for the buildings that you may use in the course of your studies which can be found on the blue and white Fire Action Notices. Use the nearest available route out which may not be the route you use daily to enter the building.

If you discover a fire, you should sound the alarm by operating the Fire Alarm Call Point. You should report the circumstances and site of fire using the emergency number 4444 - indicated on the Fire Action Notice.

Do not tackle the fire unless you have been trained to do so. Evacuate the building to the fire assembly point indicated on the Fire Action Notice. Do not re-enter the building until officially authorised to do so.

On hearing the Fire Alarm, everyone should proceed calmly to the nearest available safe fire exit, as indicated by the green and white fire exit signage. Take appropriate action to assist visitors and mobility-impaired persons or wheelchair users to a safe refuge.

Upon exiting the building, continue on to the fire assembly point so as not to impede the remaining evacuees exiting the building. Evacuation is practised through fire drills. However, you should regard any continuous sounding of the alarm as a fire incident and act accordingly.

Disabled Students

You are expected to declare any disability that would affect your safety in the event of a fire, e.g. hearing impairment or the use of a wheelchair. If you are referred to the Disability Adviser, a Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan (PEEP) will be developed for you as appropriate.

Disabled students must declare their disability, to the University, for it to be taken into consideration. You can find further information about the support available to disabled students studying at our University and contact details on the Support tab in MyBeckett and our website: www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/disability-advice.

First Aid

First Aid Notices (green and white) are displayed in all University buildings alongside the Fire Action Notices (predominantly blue and white) and alongside, or adjacent to, each First Aid box. First Aid Notices provide all the information you may require to seek and summon assistance.

First Aider contact details can also be obtained from the Student Hub or from Security: City Campus, internal ext. 23154 or Headingley Campus, internal ext. 23165.

Accident and Incident Reporting

All accidents and incidents and dangerous occurrences, must be reported to, and recorded by University staff. Accident report forms (HS1) are available at reception offices, Security and Student Hubs.

Infectious Disease

Campus-based students who have been diagnosed with a serious infectious disease such as TB, measles, meningitis or chicken pox should notify their Course Director or Course Administrator as soon as possible giving information regarding which groups of students (and/or colleagues and clients on placements) you have been in contact with and when. For diseases such as TB or meningitis, the West Yorkshire Health Protection Team may also wish to speak to you (or your family) to determine if others require screening or medication. You should follow advice given by the hospital or your GP about when it is safe to return to University.

Zero Tolerance

You should also familiarise yourself with our Zero Tolerance Report and Support web page: <https://www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/zero-tolerance/>

6.2 Regulations

There are two sets of documentation you need to be aware of, the University Regulations and the Student Contract.

The University Regulations relate specifically to your studies and your course. They cover issues such as assessment, progression and award requirements amongst a range of other issues.

The Student Contract deals with a range of issues which apply to all students of our University.

6.3 University Academic Regulations

The following sections are of particular relevance to your course:

- Education and Assessment
- Progression and Award
- Examinations

- Disabled Students
- Extenuating Circumstances and Mitigation
- Appeals
- Academic Integrity

The Students' Union Advice service (www.leedsbeckettsu.co.uk) is able to offer advice and guidance on how to understand and use the Regulations.

Where students are undertaking any form of research project, reference should be made to the Research Ethics Policy and Research Ethics Procedures which can be found at:

www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/studenthub/research-ethics.htm.

Engagement Statement

The University expects you to engage with and fully contribute to all learning sessions within your distance learning modules. Fully engaging with your online presentations and activities is an important part of your learning, contributing both to the University community and the learning experience of you and your fellow students on the course.

We monitor your engagement with the course material as engagement and academic achievement are closely linked. Also, by monitoring engagement we can identify students who may need our guidance or support at an early stage to help them progress in their studies. This is part of our commitment to ensuring an excellent education and experience and supporting your success at Leeds Beckett.

The University does understand that from time to time there is good reason why you cannot engage with your studies for a significant period of time, and in this instance you must contact your School office or Online Learning Tutor to let them know so that our records can be updated accordingly.

Your Student Contract can be accessed at www.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/public-information/student-regulations
